Continuous Professional Development

Information regarding Continued Professional Development

APCP demands the highest standards from its members in the interests of the public, clients and their families. It draws its accredited membership standards from best international practice in the fields of Counselling and Psychotherapy and for professional accredited membership status it draws distinctions between Accredited Counsellors and Accredited Psychotherapists. This is reflected in the CPD requirements among practitioners in both fields in any given year e.g.

Pre Accredited & Accredited Counsellors - 30 hours CPD

Pre Accredited & Accredited Psychotherapists - 50 hours CPD

Supervisors - 50 hours CPD

CPD may be demonstrated utilising a range of activities, but an indicative list would include the following typologies of CPD:

- a) Engagement in advanced or additional professional practice programmes which can be validated independently.
- b) Certified Attendances at professional/ academic/research conferences relevant to Counselling/Psychotherapy.
- c) Contribution to Professional developmental/monitoring activities in counselling or psychotherapy as relevant. This might include attendance at meetings of professional bodies, serving as an officer on a professional body etc and should be verified independently.

This range of activities is consistent with the typologies of professional activity and CPD as identified by the EAP.

Please note: - As part of CPD, APCP Members are required to attend a minimum of 2 professional activities organised by APCP on an annual basis, totalling 12 hours training.
